Office 18 and 20 Ninth Street.
TUESDAY, MARCH 8, 1892.

Gen. Reyna Barrios has been elected President of Guatemala.

After Cleveland, the Henderson Gleaner thinks Boies is the man for President.

The Idaho Senatorial contest has been decided in favor of Dubois, the sitting member.

Admiral Graviere, of the French Navy, and Dr. Noah Porter, of Yale College, died last week.

There are indications that the Berling Sea fisheries chestnut is to be sprung on a defenseless public again this season.

The Chicago bride of a week who committed suicide, had not probably heard of South Dakota's liberal divorce laws.

There were 240 failures in the United States last week, not including our little experience with the Training School brethren.

The House on Friday adopted a resolution inviting Senator Hill to exhibit in Kentucky on his Southern trip next week.

The "ten days" of grace are rapidly passing away and Blaine has not yet replied to his ex-daughter-in-law's lively card of excuse.

There will be no occasion for spell-binders to spit cotton next summer. Nearly 8,000,000 bales of new cotton have already been marketed, an increase of 750,000 bales.

Greece is threatened with a revolution, Germany with a socialist uprising, Mexico with a rebellion and the United States with Ignatius Donnelly as a Presidential candidate.

The first number of the Madisonville Advertiser has appeared with H. B. Stewart and W. A. Nisbet as publishers and editors. The name is a mistake. The new paper ought to have revived the name of the old Times.

The McCain law, prohibiting the conducting of tobacco warehouses in Kentucky, passed the Senate yesterday. It will pass the House too, and the only chance to stop it is through the wisdom of Gov. Brown. But the Governor comes from a tobacco growing district.—Louisville Post.

Out of a large number of applicants for Superior Court Judge, Gov. Brown appointed Mr. J. H. Brent, of Paris to the position. Mr. Brent is a lawyer of high standing, but has never held an office and will therefore bring no experience to the bench. He is a kinsman of the Clays and was a Clay man in the last State convention.

It has been settled, unless the Legislature rejects the report of the Joint Committee, that the judicial district of most interest to us will be composed of Christian, Trigg, Calloway and Lyon. This is not with the consent of Calloway, but our Purchase agent will find us pleasant if not very agreeable company. We have in Christian county about 600 more Republicans than we need, but just at this particular time we have them beautifully licked and in a proper state of subjugation. If Calloway will just use its "1,800 Democratic majority" to good advantage, the new district will never give less than 2,000 majority to the Democratic ticket. By the way, why not give us the same counties for a Senatorial district.

Harry Sommers, of the Elizabethtown News, who is in Washington, pays Hon. W. T. Ellis this handsome and deserved compliment: "Representative Ellis, of the Second District, is one of the very brightest men in the Kentucky delegation. He is a modest unassuming gentleman, he does not rush in like some members of this House, and discusses every question that comes up for consideration, but only speaks after he has given a subject consideration so that when he has the floor what he says is worth listening to and has weight and influence. Mr. Ellis is a close student of all the great political questions, and like Mr. Beck, burns the midnight oil. On the tariff and silver question he is as versatile and as well equipped as any man on the Democratic side and will doubtless participate in the debates on these questions. His work as Chairman of Committee on Elections, is claiming a good deal of his time, as a number of important bills have been referred to that Committee, and he gives as close attention to every bill as he does to a law case. Such a man as Mr. Ellis is worth a dozen Congressmen who like to hear themselves talk and the Second District should keep him in Congress as long as he is willing to serve.

How It's Done Nowadays.
Judge—Have you anything to say why sentence of death should not be passed upon you?
Prisoner (haughtily)—If I have anything to say, I'll say it in my autobiography.—Life.

ELKTON GOT IT.

Hopkinsville Too Large and Bustling For a School.

A Country Town Preferred That Is Not Liable To Grow.

The Finished Village of Elkton Chosen.

The Training School has been located and Hopkinsville did not get it. We made a fair and honorable fight for it and were in at the finish. A mistake has been made, but we can stand it if the School can.

The committee after being shown over the city, went into secret session Friday at the Methodist church. What transpired is not known. We only know that at the end of three hours the news came forth that Hopkinsville had been defeated. Arrangements being made to ring the church bell if we won, to notify the people, but it is needless to say that the bell was not rung.

The reason given is that a small place was preferred, where there would be no demoralizing influences thrown around the boys. Well, they got it. Elkton will be quiet enough unless some of Todd county's hill-toppers take a notion to go to town.

LEGISLATIVE.

The resolution fixing March 9 as the time for electing a State Librarian was adopted.

The House after a spirited contest Saturday recommitted the Bolan investigation resolution.

The House has adopted Dr. Wood's resolution providing for quadrennial assessment of real estate.

The House committee on State Prisons has recommended allowing convicts six days good time in each month instead of five.

The House committee on Charitable Institutions recommended favorably Senate bill 62, providing for the organization of eleemosynary and educational institutions.

The Committee on Printing accounts recommended for rejection the resolution looking to the payment of the expenses of the parties to the Harned-Middleton contest.

The Governor has commissioned Harvey Myers Commodore of the naval forces of Kentucky. No man in the State is more deserving of such a compliment. Of course it is only a compliment.

The Sinking Fund committee recommended the employment of a clerk at $300 by the Board. The original resolution was $500. The amended resolution was lost by 47 to 20, for want of a constitutional majority.

The McCain bill passed the Senate last week receiving 22 votes. Its opponents, only nine, declined to vote. Of course there will be little trouble in getting it through the haysed House, but it is to be hoped that Gov. Brown will stand by the Pennyrite market and hit it with a club when it gets to him.

Some of the members have been discussing a method of reconciling Calloway county for being yanked up bodily and thrown into a Circuit Court district across Tennessee river. It is proposed to send a car-load of tin and paper boats to Calloway county, with which her citizens may navigate the raging Tennessee.—Courier Journal.

And now it seems that the Committee on Charitable Institutions may not have an opportunity to go on their little junking expedition next week, after all. Since the rocky kicked up in the House by the gentleman from Daviess, it is doubtful whether they will go on a journey, the expenses of which they may be called upon to pay out of their own pockets.—Courier Journal.

CIRCUIT COURT.

A List of Grand Jurors, County Clerk's Report, Etc.

The spring term of Circuit Court convened yesterday, Judge John R. Grace presiding. The usual oath was administered to the sheriff and his deputies concerning the summoning of jurors, etc.

The County Clerk's report was filed showing $2,000.40 of taxes collected on deeds, licenses, seals and mortgages since last report. After deducting per cent, a sufficiency was ordered paid into jury fund to pay off jurors and balance ordered sent to the Auditor. The grand jury was made up and sworn. The following is a list of GRAND JURORS:

P. E. Sherrill, foreman; T. J. Hadcock, W. H. Whitlow, J. W. Lyle, J. C. Adecock, H. T. Fruit, W. B. Hawkins, Sol Smith, W. L. Parker, Geo. H. Merritt, L. G. Cravens, Bill Franklin, col.

The Court then adjourned until this morning when the petit jurors will be made up and business will then commence in earnest.

FIRESIDE FRAGMENTS.

—To Take Stains from Silk.—Mix together in a phial two ounces of essence of lemon and one ounce of oil of turpentine. Grease and other spots on silks are to be rubbed gently with a linen rag dipped in this mixture.—Dramatic News.

—Fresh-buttered Popcorn.—After the corn is popped, remove all round and but slightly opened grains; to each quart of corn add one large teaspoonful melted butter, or ham-bone fat, and one-half teaspoonful of salt. Stir well three or four minutes to thoroughly season.—Housekeeper.

—Mashed Turnips.—Winter turnips are not general favorites, and yet they may be made not only wholesome, but palatable, if properly cooked. The secret lies in using plenty of salted boiling water and boiling gently until tender, always taking care to press the water well out before draining. A little butter and pepper rubbed through while mashing adds flavor.—N. Y. World.

—Caramel Pudding.—Melt together one-half cup brown sugar, and one-half cup sweet chocolate; take a lemon, cut in slices, and add a pinch of salt. Sweet milk. When it reaches the boiling point, stir in one egg previously beaten, with a rounding tablespoonful corn starch, thinned with one tablespoonful cold milk and one pinch of salt. Let it boil up, then turn into molds or side dishes.—Orange Judd Farmer.

—Hashed Potatoes.—Season one quart of sliced cold boiled potatoes with a level tablespoonful of salt and one-half of a teaspoonful of pepper. Put in a frying pan and on the fire. When the butter is hot, add the potatoes, and stir and cut with a case knife until the potatoes are very hot. Draw back the pan to a cooler place and stir occasionally until the chips and bacon are cooked. Serve hot.—Good Housekeeping.

—Apple Charlotte.—Take a loaf of stale bread, and butter the slices. Pare and slice a dozen apples; take a lemon, grate the rind and save the juice. Place at the bottom of an earthen baking dish a layer of apples, scatter brown sugar and some of the lemon gratings and juice upon the apples, add a layer of hashed bread kept on in this way until your dish is filled, having a crust of bread on top. Do not make it too sweet. Bake in a moderate oven.—Detroit Free Press.

—Potato Souffle.—Boil four good sized potatoes and rub them through a sieve. Take one cupful of sweet milk and one cupful of butter. Let them come to a boil in a saucepan. Add the potatoes, a pinch of salt, a little white pepper, and beat to a cream. Then put in, one at a time, the yolks of four eggs, beating it well. Drop a pinch of salt in the whites and beat to a stiff froth. Add this to the mixture, stir in lightly and pour into a well-buttered dish. Bake twenty minutes. Eat with meats that have gravy.—Frasier Farmer.

—Brown Betty.—Spread upon the bottom of a buttered pudding dish a layer of thinly sliced tart apples, then a layer of bread crumbs, a sprinkling of sugar, bits of butter, and cinnamon or other preferred spice. Repeat until the dish is full, having a layer of crumbs on top. If the apples are not juicy, add two or three tablespoonfuls of water. Cover the dish and bake three-quarters of an hour, uncover and broil. Send to the table in the dish in which it is baked. To be eaten with sweetened cream.—Harper's Bazar.

SENSITIVE SCORPIONS.

The Delicate Hearing Apparatus of This and Other Insects.

A correspondent writes to the Spectator to confirm what that journal has recently said about the scorpion's very sensitive ear for the violin. "I have," says the correspondent, "studied the habits of the scorpion for many years, and have often noticed how very sensitive scorpions are to the most delicate sound, musical or otherwise. Under the thorax the scorpion has two comelike appendages, which are the antennae (pectinates). It is pretty well settled by physiologists and entomologists that in insects the antennae represent the organs of hearing. These delicate structures are easily affected by the vibrations of sound, and there can be no doubt whatever that they are also affected by sounds quite inaudible to the human ear. The slightest vibration of the atmosphere from any cause whatever at once puts in motion the delicate structures which compose the antennae, to which organs insects owe the power of protecting themselves against danger, as well as the means of recognizing the approach of one another. Spiders have wonderful eyesight, but I am quite sure that the scorpion's vision, notwithstanding his six eyes, is far from being acute. It is very difficult to catch a scorpion, and for a reason, but a scorpion can be easily captured, if no noise is made. Spiders see their prey before they are caught in the web, but the scorpion makes no movement whatever to seize his prey or cooies until they indicate their whereabouts by movements. This being the case, it can readily be understood how easily the scorpion may be roused into motion by the vibrations of music, as described in the article alluded to. If a tuning-fork be sounded on the table on which I keep my aged scorpion, he at once becomes agitated, and strikes out violently with his sting. On touching him with the vibrating tuning-fork, he stings it, and then calls himself up, as scorpions do when hedged in by Jamaica, the negroes believe that scorpions know their name; so they never call out, 'See, a scorpion,' when they meet with one on the ground or wall, for fear of his escaping. They thus indirectly recognize the scorpion's delicate appreciation of sound; but if you wish to stop a scorpion in his flight, blow air on him from the mouth, and he at once calls himself up. I have repeatedly done this, but with a spider it has a contrary effect. Music charms a snake into silence, as the experiments at the Zoo and elsewhere prove; but the agitated contortions and writhings of the scorpions when roused by the sound of the violin only prove that they are roused by the vibrations of sound caused by music, and this would happen if they were disturbed by the discordant sounds of a penny trumpet or any other unmusical instrument."—London Spectator.

CONSUMPTION

In its early stages can be cured by the prompt use of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral.

It soothes the inflamed tissues, aids expectoration, and hastens recovery.
